

CENTRAL REGISTER

JAN 10 2005

USSN 09/767,150
Art Unit 2661
Amdt dated Jan 10, 2005
Reply to Office action of Sep. 10, 2005

Amendments to the Abstract

Please replace the abstract on file by the following amended abstract:

ATM cells for use in a cell relay network are assembled by creating a template data structure representing the structure of a cell to be assembled. The template data structure is [[,]] storing-stored the template data structure in memory. In order to assemble an ATM cell, the -and-creating cells by retrieving the template data structures and-is retrieved from memory in TDM data is inserted therein. inserting variable information thereinThe insertion of the data is controlled with the aid of circular buffers.